Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 25 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and frosty but dry with sunny spells for Monday.

Today:
Mostly dry during the morning with some sunshine, but also a few isolated showers for the northwestern parts of the region. Any freezing fog patches may be slow to clear. Dry with sunny intervals through the afternoon. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry with plenty of clear spells during the evening and the night across the region. Clouds developing during the early hours. Remaining cold and frosty. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Tuesday:
A dry and cloudy start, with some bright spells for eastern areas. A band of rain, locally heavy, will spread east across the region during the day, clearing overnight. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
A cloudy day on Wednesday, with some rain developing at times. Further rain overnight turning heavy and persistent. Showers for Thursday and Friday but turning dry overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.